MICROSCLEROTHERAPY TRAINING

Level: Advanced

Duration of course: 1 Day

Total CPD Hours: 8

Practical experience: Live patients provided

As an aesthetic physician it is important to stand out from the competitive market of aesthetic providers. A relatively low percentage of aesthetic clinics offer microsclerotherapy as a treatment. Leg veins however are a very common problem and there is constant demand for their treatment. Such is the demand that some practices have chosen to specialise in the provision of leg vein treatments alone.

Microsclerotherapy is a skill that requires some good background knowledge and takes some time and effort to master. This equates nicely to having fewer competitors. This comprehensive microsclerotherapy training day covers the use of injectable sclerosant for the treatment of leg thread veins and will focus on enabling you to safely and effectively perform this treatment. On completion of the course you will be able to integrate microsclerotherapy treatments into your aesthetic practice immediately.
